Subject: Application for an internship

Mr, Mrs,

I have been accepted into the Master 2 program in Molecules and Therapeutic Targets (MCT) and after a year in the Master 1 program in Life Sciences (SV), Environment and Health (ES) at the Museum National d'Histoire Naturelle in Paris, I would like to do an internship related to animal health from January to June 2022.

In addition to my desire to discover a dynamic and particularly appreciated country, my application is in line with my desire to extend my university studies: Classe Préparatoire aux Grandes Ecoles specializing in BCPST (Biology, Chemistry, Physics and Earth Sciences) at the Lycée du Parc in Lyon; Bachelor's degree with honors at the University of Toulon-La Garde (Bachelor's degree in Life Science and Bachelor's degree in Biochemistry and Biological Engineering).

My current Master's degree is focused on the "One Health" concept and on the emerging issues that link the health of ecosystems and the health of the organisms that compose them; how human activities impact ecosystems and all living organisms. I took courses in parasitologie, genetic and physiological regulation mechanisms in vertebrates, and on the impact of the environment on vertebrate physiology, particularly on the responses of organisms and populations to pollutants.

With a PhD in mind, and to ensure my future professional choices, I wish to broaden my knowledge while working on wild species. It is here that your work of Cheetah (programmation scientifique du CCF) has caught my attention.

Passionate about environmental issues, attentive to the preservation of species, member of the League for the Protection of Birds (LPO) for many years, I have participated several times in raising public awareness on the issues of the association through various events. I also took part in naturalist counting operations; I was a relay in the rescue of wild animals in distress as a volunteer transporter. I also volunteered at the regional wildlife rescue center of Buoux in the Vaucluse where I had the very rewarding opportunity to do an internship of several days; as well as at the CHENE center (Center of Accommodation and Study on Nature and Environment) in Normandy specialized in the rescue of seals grey and common.

You can be assured of my motivation and my availability. Thank you for your attention to my application and please accept, Mrs, Mr, the expression of my respectful consideration.
