About Myself

I am a 20-year-old plant-based woman who is really in touch with nature. I love exploring although I rarely get opportunities to do it. I especially love animals and

I am sympathetic when it comes to them. I love working with people knowing how they do certain activities, how they think, how they tackle situations is very interesting. I love obtaining new skills whether from the environment, people I am working with or animals. In July, I spent the whole month watching the National Geographic channel and each time I learned something I did not know I asked myself why I did not start watching the channel earlier. Seeing/reading about how animals interact is amazing.
